

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A system and method of matching students with scholarship, financial aid, or loan information is presented. Customers, such as universities or colleges, may submit information to be presented in any, or a combination, of a state and a local database. Students searching for scholarships, grants, awards, loans, and financial aid information through a web site associated with a particular university may receive results that are particularized to that university as well as results that are national in scope.